Dear Mr. Claus,

Running for Don Young's seat in congress appears to be a joke to you. This is not a joke, and jesting about wearing your Santa Claus suit if you won is not funny, and is demeaning to Congressman Don Young's memory. While I doubt you have a chance in hell of garnering more than a handful of votes, you should withdraw from this race that is very important to Alaska.

Sincerely,
Joy Miller

Dear Mr Claus,
I am a Seattle-based reporter with The Independent newspaper of London.
I am writing about the election for Congress and the field of 51 candidates including yourself and Sarah Palin.
Could you please spare a moment to talk with me about why you're running and why you think you'd be good for the job.
Many thanks indeed,

Andrew Buncombe

Dear Councilman clause,
As a resident of North Pole i am asking with as much respect as possible to withdraw your name from the United states house election.
I believe with the new rank choice voting system we have i don't believe you have a chance out of 51 candidates to make it to the special election on August 16th 2022.
For the sake of your career please Santa I believe it's in the best interest to drop out because you are running against people like Nick Beigach
Sarah palin
Al Gross

Sincerely,
Aaron Crook

Hi Mr. Claus,

I'm a writer for the US office of the Guardian, headquartered in the UK, and I read today that you are among the candidates running for Alaska's congressional seat; I see Sarah Palin has joined the race.

I'm still checking with my editors about plans, but I wondered if you'd potentially be willing to chat a little bit next week, for maybe 20-30 minutes, about your career for a short profile on our site. I could talk any day that works for you.

Thanks,
Matt
